Date: May 11, 2015

Subject: HONORING OUR BROTHER IN BLUE

In a tragic turn of events, Miami Police Officer Carl Patrick was dead in his Pembroke Pines home. It appears that his death occurred at the hands of his girlfriend who is currently awaiting trial for murder. To mark the one year anniversary of his passing, the City of Miami Police Department's North District Station (NDS) will be hosting a ceremonial breakfast and unveiling of a commemorative plaque on Wednesday, May 13, 2015, at 1000 NW 62nd Street, at 10:00am.

Officer Patrick's mother and family are expected to attend and share a few memories of their late family member. Miami Police Chief Rodolfo Llanes and other members of the City of Miami Police Department will also share a few memories during this unveiling.

The media is welcomed to attend.
